

Women in Trucking and Transportation Leadership Services offer members leadership training opportunities

January 7, 2009

Plover, WI: One of the primary goals of Women in Trucking (WIT) is to support and encourage women to become successful in the transportation industry.

We are pleased to announce the offering of new services for our members that will help both women and men to learn to overcome any difficulties they might face as leaders in the transportation industry. This service will be offered in partnership with Scott Philips of Transportation Leadership Services (TLS), who has provided years of executive coaching experience working for CEOs, Presidents, General Managers and partners in various industries.

The areas that will be addressed include Executive Coaching, 3Sixty Leadership Assessments and Business Assessments.

These services will help members:

- model the way for their teams
- inspire a shared vision
- challenge processes
- enable others to act, and
- stimulate passion.

Women In Trucking members will receive a special members only rate for their leadership and coaching sessions (www.womenintrucking.org/new-services.cfm).

Background: Women In Trucking (www.WomenInTrucking.org) is a non profit corporation, established in 2007 to encourage the employment of women in the trucking industry, promote their accomplishments and minimize obstacles faced by women in trucking.

Transportation Leadership Services (www.Transls.com) has over 50 years of successful management experience in a number of industries. Most importantly they helped companies identify and resolve key issues through the executive coaching process.
